3 does this imply a requirement on the resource providers to publish this up to date information?

Added the following sentence.

“It is crucial that resource providers maintain up-to-date information to avoid misleading the selection process.”

4 the possibility to do so, is applicable to traditional HEP workloads only is that right? such as those in type 1 and 3 (described in intro)

Added the following sentence.

“This correction comes into play when tasks can be partitioned for partial execution, such as traditional HEP workloads.”

5 Can we say something about where this is being developed, by whom, and/or the timeline for this?

Modified the statement to

“PanDA monitoring developers are actively developing a graphical user interface (GUI) to enhance the monitoring system, transforming it into an interactive platform in several months.”

5 do users also specify the resource requirements of the individual tasks via the GUI?

Added “and resource requirements of the individual tasks” to the sentence.

6 Can we say something about where this is being developed, by whom, and/or the timeline for this?

Actually, GUI and pseudo-interactivity are on the same development line.
Added “forming a part of the effort to transform the monitoring system into an interactive platform.” to the sentence.

7 can we please add numbers to the arrows to indicate the order in which things are occurring?

Added numbers.
