Physics Opportunities at an Electron-Ion Collider XI

Dates: 24–28 February 2025

Location: Florida International University, Modesto Maidique Campus

Conference Website: <https://indico.jlab.org/e/poetic11>

We are delighted to announce the 11th edition of the Physics Opportunities at an Electron-Ion Collider (POETIC XI) conference, to be held from February 24 to February 28, 2025, at the Modesto Maidique Campus of Florida International University (FIU) in Miami, Florida.

The primary goal of POETIC XI is to continue the advancement of Electron-Ion Collider (EIC) related physics. The EIC, which has been granted Critical Decision 3A (CD-3A) by the U.S. Department of Energy (DOE), is to be constructed at Brookhaven National Lab in New York in partnership with Jefferson Lab (Jlab). This collider will be a groundbreaking research machine, pushing the boundaries of our understanding in accelerator science, particle detector design, high-performance computing, and beyond. The EPIC collaboration has formed around the first detector, and there is the possibility of having a second EIC detector.

The conference will bring together experts from around the world to discuss the latest developments, share innovative research, and foster collaborations in this exciting and evolving field. We look forward to your participation and contributions to the success of POETIC XI.

Call for Abstracts

We are pleased to announce that abstract submission is now open at the indico page. We invite researchers to submit presentations for a talk or poster on any topic relevant to the scientific program and your area of research. This is an excellent opportunity to share your findings with peers and engage in stimulating discussions.
